

Real Individuals with Disabilities. Real Messages.

Julia

“My message for those making hiring decisions is simple. As an employer, please don't make assumptions about a person's ability.”

Alex

“I never let my disability affect how I live life... I'm as independent as possible.”

Asha

“I'm not neurotypical and may not pick up on certain social cues. But [seeing this as a weakness] would be a mistake because my disability allows me to catch things others might miss.”

I will not become an unemployment
statistic

Hire Me SC promotes a culture of inclusion across the state of South Carolina, one in which equal employment for all individuals — whether they have a disability or not — is the norm rather than the exception.

Why Does Hire Me SC Exist?

Employment in the general workforce should be the first and preferred option for people with disabilities. However, many are not afforded this opportunity. All individuals, disability or not, should have the chance to obtain real jobs with real wages.
